

Bio data of Dr. B. Purushothama Reddy

Dr. B. Purushothama Reddy is an urban and regional planner. He has obtained his Master's Degree from the Indian Institute of Technology, Kharagapur and done a certificate course from University College of London, UK. He is awarded Ph. D. from Jawaharlal Nehru Technology University, Hyderabad and submitted the thesis on "Integrated approach for Urban Planning, Development and Management using Remote Sensing, GIS and GPS - A case study of Hyderabad City". He has also undergone Chief Information Officer's training at IIM, Ahmadabad.

He worked in various capacities in the Town & Country Planning Department and also in the Urban Development Authority of Vijayawada, Municipal Corporations of Visakhapatnam and GHMC, Housing Board and Andhra Pradesh Urban Services for Poor - a DFID Project. He worked as the Director of House Numbering and also as Chief City Planner in GHMC for a decade. He retired as Director of Town & Country Planning in 2013. He has very good experience in the plan preparation and plan implementation and enforcement.

After retirement he worked as a consultant in HMDA. From 2014 he has been working as Consultant in the APUFIDC and assisting the Government of Andhra Pradesh in framing new laws and rules related to the Urban Planning and development in Development Authorities and the Town & Country Planning of the State.